

24/7 Ransomware Defense You Can Measure

Reacting Isn't Enough

Our Gartner-recognized Managed Detection and Response (MDR) service delivers a powerful and affordable cybersecurity protection against an attack. Designed for small-to-medium businesses, we continuously test defenses against the latest attack techniques to protect your endpoints and quickly stop threats, on your behalf.

Of small to medium sized businesses are prepared to defend against an attack.

Ransomware Defense Ingenuity

We measure and understand the adversary's moves by continuously improving our detection models to help achieve a 90% or more ransomware block rate.

Precision Detection Powered by AI

We use proven machine-learning detections to quickly spot advanced cyberattacks. We've automated the manual work – blocking fast-moving ransomware attacks and filtering out false positives – to find and react to threats across your endpoints, mobile devices, network, and the cloud.

Of ransomware attacks in 2021 were small and medium businesses.

Exceptional Visibility & Support

With our 24/7 managed service, we give businesses complete visibility into threats, recommendations, and compliance tracking. Regular access to our customer experience team provides the support to overcome technical challenges while improving your security protection.

AI Defense at the Core

ActZero was founded on the idea of helping defend against the enemy. After a decade of U.S. government service, as well as pioneering startups in Silicon Valley, Founder and CEO Sameer Bhalotra brought his collective knowledge of the security industry to build an affordable service that would endure and continuously protect smaller companies who are the foundation of the world.

Pulling together a powerful leadership team from across the industry, we began two years of intensive research and development to create a powerful cybersecurity service with AI at the core. ActZero acquired award-winner Toronto-based IntelliGO in 2020 to fast-track AI technology and data science. In 2021, ActZero officially launched its Managed Detection and Response (MDR) service in California with a $70 million investment from Point72.

ActZero puts defense at the center of what we do, continuously finding ways to improve with precision and purpose. As a Gartner-recognized MDR service and recent winner of the 2022 SC Awards Best MDR Service with more than 100 worldwide employees, we strive to become your accountability partner.
